

Expanding Minority Business Participation

“I take being a minority businessperson as a responsibility. could have made a lot of excuses in my career, but the No.1 ingredient to success is to not accept failure.”

About NYREC

The New York Real Estate Chamber (NYREC) is a new chamber of commerce made of a coalition of real estate developers, community development corporations, general contractors, and property managers that share a common goal—the expansion of minority business participation. NYREC is not for just any firm or organization. Membership is exclusive to developers, general contractors, and property managers. The chamber specifically seeks private and nonprofit real estate professionals with an established track record of completed projects that support the growth of minority participation in the real estate industry.

We Want to Hear From You

As Members you are the stakeholders of this chamber. We want to hear from you! How can NYREC assist in driving your projects? What resources would you like to have access too? What relationships need developing? Send us your feedback – email your Executive Director at FWilkinsConsultant@gmail.com

MEET YOUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Francilia I. Wilkins, MBA

Greetings Membership,

I am excited to join the chamber as your Executive Director. I look forward to working with you and the executive team to progress both organizational goals and member projects. For the 2015-2016 fiscal year I am committed to the following organizational goals: creating access to capital, enhancing the deal pipeline, advocacy, and relationship building. I am enthused to continue the positioning of NYREC as a resource and hub for minority developers.

Francilia Wilkins is Chief Executive Officer and Founder of R.F. Wilkins Consultants, Inc. The consultancy partners with non-profits, small businesses, and developers to create comprehensive funding, marketing, project management, and commercial development solutions.

Ms. Wilkins received both an MBA in Marketing Management and BS in Finance from St. John's University. Currently she serves on the board of directors for the Pitkin Business Improvement District and the National Black MBA Association
